

ABSTRACT

A method for the provision of an appetite control agent which method comprises using one or 5 more agonists or antagonists of a GPR19 receptor as test compounds in one or more appetite control test procedures, and selecting an active compound for use as an appetite control agent.